

Community Connected Care is your advocate for support

If you are in need, our Community Connected Care program can empower you with resources and information to address the things that impact your health

Anthem works to help people who need it most. It's why your health plan now gives you access to Community Connected Care — a trained network of local community-based care coordinators to help people who have unmet health and social needs.

Care coordinators live in your community and can connect you to resources nearby for support with physical and mental health advocacy, and family needs, like:

- Housing insecurity
- Transportation challenges
- Access to food
- Concerns about money
- Social isolation
- Caregiving support
- Medical and medication costs
- Behavioral health needs

“GroundGame.Health connected me with a discount program that made my prescriptions more affordable. And they arranged help with groceries when I needed it.”

— Sarah, 50*

Supporting you, every step of the way

GroundGame.Health is our trusted Community Connected Care partner that helps connect Anthem members to the support they need to live their healthiest lives. A Care Coordinator from GroundGame.Health may reach out to assess your needs then serve as your advocate, connecting you to health benefits, local services, and organizations in your community that can provide the most effective support. Your participation in the program is completely voluntary and confidential.

Do you need support? It's free, it's easy, and it's discreet. Visit groundgame.health/anthem to learn more and connect with someone who can help.
